

New Pavilion

Kaufman Sports Complex

The new Kaufman Sports Complex pavilion project will break ground in the spring of 2009. A public pavilion with restrooms and covered gathering space will enhance the park for youth sports participants across the Marquette area. Other improvements include an additional park entrance to improve access and safety. The construction budget is $400,000. The project is funded by a generous grant from the Kaufman Foundation, with support from the Shiras Foundation, the City of Marquette, Community Groups and private donations. To achieve the project goals and complete construction in 2009, additional matching funds of $40,000 are needed. Donations of $300 or more will be recognized on a permanent sign and donations of $60 will be recognized with engraved paving bricks.
